

What is MMM?

We are a non-profit organization striving to give persons with disabilities the tools to connect to their families/communities and increase independence through meaningful play and adapted technology.

Adapted Technology

Interactive Tablet Program

Includes activities & tools with an interactive iPad program used to increase a wide range of functionality (fine-motor, cognitive, emotional & social skills)

What do we Provide?

1. An Initial Assessment

Implemented by founder, Certified Recreational Therapist & mother to Matthew, Mary Nagy. This Assessment measures each individual's functioning levels, needs and deficit areas.

2. Program Plan

A developed & person-specific program plan with notes from each session and educational resources

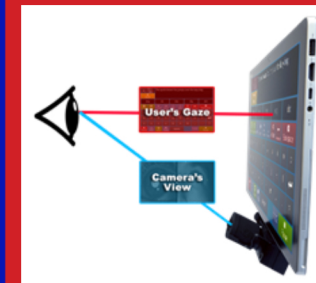

3. Take Home Bag

At the end of each session, the family takes home a bag of activities specifically chosen to engage that person and focus on increasing his/her functioning level. The family will exchange this bag at the next month's session for a new one

4. Monthly Play Sessions

These 60min sessions educate and guide the family through using play to engage with their special needs loved one. Including specific techniques, toys & activities to address their loved-ones deficits. This session incorporates the use of our adapted technology to engage with each individual, allowing them the tools to communicate.

Eye Gaze Bar

"The camera picks up light reflections from your pupils and translates the movement of your eyes into mouse cursor movements. It takes only seconds to complete a one time calibration"

Meet Matthew

Matthew is a funny, smart & caring young man. At 15 months old, he was diagnosed with a rare condition called Metabolic Myopathy/Cytopathy at the mitochondrial level. Matthew has outlived his life expectancy by 18 years.

We believe providing him with meaningful activities in a supportive, barrier-free environment has given him the drive & strength to forge on.

Matthew's MIGHTY Mission strives to make these activities accessible via family sessions using adapted technology & adapted play. Like Matthew, all persons deserve to be empowered with the resources to engage with family/community via play.

Our Mission

To empower all persons with disabilities by providing knowledge, resources, and improving connections to their families/communities through modified play, adapted toys, and innovative technology in a barrier-free environment.
